JOB APPLICATION TRACKING SYSTEM
USING SALESFORCE

INTRODUCTION

An applicant tracking system (ATS) is software that manages the recruiting and hiring process, including job postings and job applications. It organizes information about job seekers and makes it searchable. As its name implies, an ATS tracks candidates through the hiring process.

Overview

Application managers work in IT departments and manage software applications as well as software and systems upgrades. They plan out which software applications are needed for smooth business operations and supervise the installation and daily maintenance of those applications, as well as the associated network and hardware installations.

Purpose

A job application letter is essentially a detailed pitch to convince a prospective employer of your eligibility for the open position for which you are applying. Together with expressing your interest in the job, the letter will highlight your qualifications, skills, experience and achievements.

ADVANTAGES & DISADVANTAGES

Advantages

Job application forms play a significant role in the selection process of job candidates. They help employers identify an applicant's background, education and employment history. Knowing the advantages and disadvantages of these forms can help you make an informed decision if you're a recruiter or interviewer.

Disadvantages

Reduced Speed - It's likely that a web app will operate at a slightly slower speed than one hosted on a server locally. Browser Support - Unfortunately, we don't all use the same browser. This means during development you'll need to ensure your app is supported across a variety of browsers.

APPLICATIONS

An application for employment is a standard business document that is prepared with questions deemed relevant by employers. It is used to determine the best candidate to fill a specific role within the company. Most companies provide such forms to anyone upon request, at which point it becomes the responsibility of the applicant to complete the form and return it to the employer for consideration. The completed and returned document notifies the company of the applicant's availability and desire to be employed as well as their qualifications and background so that a determination can be made as to the candidate's suitability to the position

CONCLUSION

Effective application letter encourages employer to read your resume.A typical interview has three phases; screening,selection, and final stage.Employers are looking for employees who are well-matched with others and have qualifications needed for the position.Job interview has three main components Warm up Stage, question and answer stage, and closing stage.
